Salinas Grid Dream Comes True

Interclass Athletics to Renew Class Rivalry And Close Whiskerino

HORSEBACK RELAY, BOXING MUD FIGHT ON PROGRAM

With the Whiskerino contest entering its last lap, the long-awaited Field Day looms as a reality. An afternoon of fun, thrills, and excitement has been promised by co-chairmen of the Field Day committee, Hughes Andrus and Abe Fuji. They have come out of their shell of secrecy which has been surrounding the activities.

"The committee has wracked its brains to the point of exhaustion in planning games that will fill three solid hours without a dull moment," was the statement these men gave.

Their program will begin with an equestrienne contest, a pony express relay between the two classes, and will culminate with a grand sack fight in a slushy ocean of mud. An exhibition wrestling match between "Bolshevik Terror" Kympton and Bill "Runt" Jensen promises to be one of the highlights of the afternoon.

Some of the entries to date are as follows:

Pony Express Relay: Gerald Mullins and Casey Kawamoto.

Boxing and wrestling: Tak Higuchi, Hughes Andrus and Abe Fuji.

Sack Race: Jack Devine and Bob Kane.

Tug-of-War: Howard Shinn and Bill Giles.

Sack Fight: Bill Frazer and Frank Osmer, head of frosh committeemen.

Sophomore La Reata Pictures To Be Taken

Attention Sophomores!

Sophomore pictures are being taken during the next week and a half at Cook's Studio. All sophomores are requested to have their pictures taken for La Reata. Appointments will be made for you and posted on the bulletin board. Please see that these appointments are kept, as it is essential that these pictures be taken immediately. The pictures will cost $7 per dozen, four-by-six inches in size, and $4.50 per half dozen. Cuts cost $1.50. There will be a ten-cent fine for appointments that are missed.

Boys are requested to wear ties and coats. Girls will have draped pictures and must wear sweaters or blouses and skirts.

KHUB

Salinas Junior College staged the largest radio rally ever heard over Watsonville's station, KHUB, at 5:15 today. The rally was a preview pep talk for tonight's game with Stockton J. C.

Several bus loads of students and football players went to Watsonville to strike up the same spirit that was shown at the rallies last week over local station KDON.

Coach Adams answered numerous questions about football and expressed his views on tonight's game. Spirited yells and songs in S. J. C. fashion comprised the rest of the program.

Federal Symphony To Hold Night Concert At High School

San Jose's Federal Symphony orchestra, under the genial direction of Arthur Gundersen, will present a night concert for special students and approximately 1400 teachers on November 22 at the Salinas High School auditorium.

This concert promises to be one of the biggest and most instructional programs ever to be held in Salinas. Due to the limitation of seats at the high school auditorium it will be impossible for outside students and local Salinas merchants to hear the concert.

All music students interested in hearing the concert should reach Mr. McCann or Miss Lowe as soon as possible. Tickets for the occasion are limited. "With many teachers coming to Salinas during the week of institute, it will be possible for only a few music students to receive tickets," according to Mr. McCann.

Miss Lowe stated, "I think that this program will be very educational to students interested in music. I hope many students will see and hear the concert."

NEW STYLES URGED IN RIBBONERO CONTEST

Upholding a three-year tradition of the Salinas Junior College co-eds, the girls are staging the annual Ribbonero, which coincides with the men's Whiskerino. Anything goes in the ribbon line, just as long as it is big, bright, and original.

The whole affair will end in a huge contest on the night of the Men's Club supper. At this time a committee chosen by the president of the U. G. C. will award prizes for the biggest, brightest, and most original ribbon. This is to be the biggest night of the three-weeks' affair, and everyone is expected to turn up with the best ribbons in her collection.

Originality has been shown by some girls in the huge maroon and gold streamers which they have perched on their heads. Still others have been seen wearing several ribbons at one time. Two years ago, one girl added a ribbon a day, which might be an inspiration for some of you.

However, the girls are to be congratulated on the fine spirit with which they have entered into the contest. There is hardly a feminine head unadorned. Perhaps that is the result of the announcement that those lacking ribbons would be serving on committees for the rest of the year.

Let's see bigger and better ribbons! Let's make it BIG! We want them to stand out as much as the boys' whiskers do, and that's going some!

Marin Crushed In Colorful Game

In a football game that had the greatest buildup that any junior college team was ever favored with, an injury-ridden band of ferocious fighting Panthers came through in spectacular fashion to defeat a very tough Marin football team 26 to 7 last Friday night. This was the Jaysee's first game under the lights.

The contest was a dramatic climax to an all-day football celebration that inaugurated both the annual home-coming, Mothers' and Dads' Day, and the initiation of night football in Salinas. After a seven-day newspaper buildup, the likes of which we have never seen, the Salinas Junior College team did not disappoint their coaches, the newspapers, or the over-capacity crowd that came to thrill and chill at one of the most wide-open games in the history of junior college football.

The game was replete with everything that lent to the spectators' enjoyment. It combined all the entertainment of a three-ring circus, the glamour of professional football, and the color of a major football big game. There were long runs, spine-tingling passes, wide open laterals, flashy interceptions, crushing offensive tactics, determined goal line stands, trick plays and formations, unknown heroes running wild, and excellent football aplenty, to wreck the nervous systems of the coaches and the 3,000 spectators.

WHO'ZIT

KNOW-IT-ALL BOOK TO BE ON SALE SHORTLY

Who's that snappy blonde? Where does she hang out? What's her telephone number? Here's the answer to Romeo's prayer. The answer to these and many other questions will be found in "Who'zit".

Who'zit, which has proven a success in all larger colleges, will be made available to the student body at the student store this coming week, according to Eleanor Beaumont and Dick Carlisle, co-editors of the book. Hurry! Hurry! Hurry! Only 400 copies have been ordered and as the price is only 10 cents it is expected that they will sell like hotcakes. Who'zit contains the names of all students and teachers at Salinas Jaysee to gether with their addresses and telephone numbers.

KDON

Last Thursday afternoon a radio rally was held for the Marin game over station KDON for the first time this year.

The band, escorted by police, marched down Main Street accompanied by many rooters.

The broadcast was held on the sidewalk in front of the Index-Journal building. The band played several marches and the student rooters gave several yells.

Record Crowd Expected At Supper Concluding Jaysee Whiskerino

Sophomore Election to Be Re-Run For Third Consecutive Time

Failure of a second attempt to determine the leader of the sophomore class for the school year 1938-39 has resulted in the possibility of a third balloting, giving the formerly quiet election a fiery air.

Stuffing of the ballot box last Wednesday made necessary a second polling last Friday. The results showed Doug Schwartz and Ed Hilby in a 25-25 tie. Laurie Matiasovich followed with ten votes and John Swartley with five. A re-count will either name a new president or necessitate a third election.

The vice-presidency was captured by Vivian Stephenson with 41 votes to Abe Fuji's 15 and Genemarie Anderson's 9.

Narrowly avoiding a clinch for the secretarial position, Joyce White with her 25 digits just overshadowed Laurie Pilling with 23. Close behind followed Agnes Ferne with 17 votes.

The all-important office of treasurer was coveted by five determined youths, each refusing to give ground. Ray Kirby led the pack with 16 tallies; Harold Peters and Byron Scott dogged his footsteps with 14 votes, and Bob Davis, in their shadows, received 13 X's. Bob Kane, with his eight points, was still there at the end.

Filipino Club Members Plan Interesting and Educational Program

The Filipino Club of Salinas J. C. will present a most interesting educational program on next Tuesday afternoon during seventh period. Members of the club will present a variety of entertainment for the student body.

Highlight of the program will be a fashion show. Filipino men and women will dress with different typical Filipino costumes representing the different classes of people in the islands. Miss Fannie Gutierrez, club secretary, will explain some interesting facts about the Philippines. Native Filipino songs will be sung by a Filipino woman singer, and following this will be a moving picture about the present life of the Filipino people, their costumes, their social and political life, and views of some of the beautiful scenery of the Philippines.

BUSSES

With the biggest game of the football season, not far away, tentative plans are now being made to transport one bus load of students to the Salinas-Santa Rosa game at Santa Rosa on Armistice Day.

President Richard Werner stated that the transportation of one bus load of students to the game would cost $60.20. Sixty students would have to make this trip and a charge of $1 each will be made in order to take one bus.

FLOOR SHOW, PLACER GAME TO CLOSE BEARD CONTEST

Food, floor show, and fun will be the main attractions at the Men's Club supper in the junior college library next Friday evening. After the parade, games, and other events, girls with bows and bearded boys will gather in the library for the biggest and best supper ever to end a Jaysee Whiskerino contest.

With the men giving the party, the meal itself is bound to be delectable and hearty. The first course will be club salad or cole slaw. Then there will be two main courses offered, roast beef with chili beans, and baked albacore.

These dishes will be prepared, under the specifications and supervision of the men, at local restaurants and bakeries. Other palate teasers on the menu will be French bread and butter, ice cream, coffee and milk.

Jack Kympton and Harold Vorheis, heads of the food committee, are making allowances for the huge appetites resulting from the field day events and are buying much food.

ENTERTAINMENT

When the meal is almost over, Doug Schwartz, entertainment chairman, will present his latest collection of talent. This floor show will introduce a glittering array of new faces and talent: the new school orchestra really swinging out; Ernestine Moorehead, who used to sing with Bob Beach's orchestra, treating the audience to a little vocal desert; Bill Hess, Salinas jitterbug, doing a tap dance while allegedly drunk; Ruth Pelcoe doing some swiny vocal arrangements of popular songs; and, the school quartette performing for the first time.

SURPRISE

Schwartz promises a big surprise for the last number on his program. He would not even give a hint as to what it will be. However, he did announce that the whole program will be presented in swing verse composed by himself.

After the floor show, beards will be judged and prizes awarded. Alibis, bribery, and false whiskers are all grounds for disqualification.

LAST HOME GAME

When everyone is satisfied that the hairiest face has been properly rewarded, the library will be left to the clean-up committee, and festivities will be resumed at the "Lettuce Bowl" in support of the Jaysee football game against Placer.

Committees for the supper wish to urge the men to buy their tickets as soon as possible so that they will know how many to expect.

N. Y. A. ALLOTMENTS HERE

Word was received this week from Washington that Salinas Junior College N. Y. A. allotments have been approved by Washington officials. They will start Monday. A total amount of approximately $4,000 will arrive here shortly.

"For the rest of the school semester there will be no more students working without pay," said President Richard Werner.

EDITORIALS

STUDENTS, BEWARE OF FALLING BOARDS ON NEW CONSTRUCTIONAL UNIT

The great many students who are deeply concerned with the progress of the new building unit should try to stay clear of the building as much as possible. Last week one man was killed and another critically injured by some falling boards. This accident should serve as a warning to students to keep as far away as possible from the area of construction.

Students have been warned by some of the teachers to keep out of the danger zone. Those wishing to keep in contact with the day-by-day progress of the building have an excellent vantage view from the hall windows. Use this method as a means of watching the building progress, as safer and clearer views can be seen from this position.

You students have been warned. Now make practical use of this editorial to eliminate further school accidents.

SCHOOL SPIRIT SHOWN

Last Friday night the Salinas Junior College was really put on the map as far as the citizens of this town are concerned. Aroused to a high peak of excitement by the week's publicity build-up, everyone in town turned out to find out what the clamor was all about. The large student turnout, and the enthusiasm displayed by them, convinced the citizens that they really have a college in their midst which is worthy of recognition and further cooperation. They came, they saw, and we conquered Marin J. C. with a score of 26 to 7.

S. J. C. students are to be congratulated on the spirit displayed at the game. Your enthusiasm was all that was needed to assure the townspeople that we really are interested in watching our school grow.

We have the true collegiate football atmosphere in the town now. Let's keep up the good work and turn out to all future night games. There are three more home games. If they are all as successful as the first one, we may be assured of town support in the rest of our activities.

We wish to thank the Salinas Index-Journal and Morning Post, and the Crystal Theatre for their cooperation and help in making last week one of the biggest weeks we have ever known.

HELP KEEP THE STUDY HALL QUIET

Why is it that we see so many students studying in the halls instead of in the library? Is it because there is too much noise in the study hall, or is it other disturbances that bother them?

I believe that there is entirely too much noise being created by the students in the study hall. Students cannot study when others are talking and making noises.

In the beginning the study hall was created for the sole purpose of studying and not talking. Talking was reserved for the halls. Now we find more students studying in the halls than ever before.

My suggestion is that students desiring to talk or have visits in the library should look for some other place. There is the lawn in front of the school; there is the park across the street, and there is the main hall.

All noisy students are requested by some of the real students to vacate the study hall or else settle down to studying. Leave the library for students who want to study and for no one else.

SCHWARTZ CHOSEN LOCAL C. C. HEAD; SOCIALS PLANNED

Doug Schwartz was elected president of the Salinas Junior College division of the Chamber of Commerce last Wednesday. Howard Levy was voted to the post of vice-president, and James Young was elected secretary-treasurer.

Members present at the meeting chose various committees for organization work during the coming semester.

According to Schwartz there is plenty of room for more members. All students interested in this organization are urged to join.

Throughout the semester social events will be given by the organization, and its members will be allowed to attend the meetings of the Salinas Chamber of Commerce.

Toastmasters Club Plays Host To Three Students

John Hada, Barney Wolcott, and Stan Irlan were guests at the Toastmasters meeting during sixth period last Tuesday. Toastmaster for the day was Ralph Rosso, while the position of member critic was taken by Bill Wallace. Chief critic was Mr. Roy Hohberger, sponsor of the club.

Member speakers were James Fassett, who spoke on "Ham and Eggs For California," James Young on "The First World War Casualty," and Howard Levy, who spoke on the topic, "Should We Legalize Mercy Killings?"

There are two different Toastmasters groups, numbering approximately 16 members. Originally there was one group, but due to the conflicts in schedule, the group was divided to accommodate other members.

New Tennis Courts Ready

The Jaysee is going to a lot of trouble just so some kids can do some LOVE making. Oh, wait a minute; now don't take it all wrong because all the kids aren't going to do this act of COURTING. Okay, if you won't stand for that, I will explain the RACKET, and then we can start the BALL rolling.

Six tennis courts on the Jaysee groups will be opened in two more weeks. Up to now tennis players have played on the Central Park courts, but in a short time they will be able to leave them.

Mother Nature played the leading roll in the construction of the courts. She voluntarily, probably because it's getting colder, provided the courts with enough rock to furnish six coats on the floor of each. The coats were applied in the following order: coarse rock, crushed rock, screenings (small pebbles), more crushed rock, and a double dose of a substance called lakold. The last coat, lakold, is an asphalted material which makes a smooth, hard surface. When each coat of rock was spread on the courts a big roller was used to smash it down.

The courts will be opened to all students, except during third and fourth periods. During these periods they will be reserved for the tennis class coached by Mr. Peavy.

It may take time before students get the hang of playing tennis, but it will be NET profit to them, so they should wor-

Two Jaysee Debaters To Represent Salinas In N. C. J. C. A.

Carrying the maroon and gold to Stockton, Norma Nason and Joyce Wiggins will represent Salinas J. C. in the Northern California speech symposium at the College of the Pacific tomorrow afternoon. The girls, chosen by the debating class for this honor, will have all their expenses paid on their Stockton trip.

Miss Nason will participate in a panel discussion under the topic, "Can World Democracies Be Preserved Through Alliances?" Miss Wiggins will speak during the luncheon on "Whither Forensic Activity in N. C. J. C. A.?"

Other events scheduled for the day include an orthodox non-decision extemporaneous debate, a symposium, a dinner, and an after-dinner speaking contest.

"This is purely a non-competitive meeting," stated Miss Hope Fraser, advisor, "and it will be valuable to the girls in the associations which they will make and in the speaking experience they will obtain."

He: "Darling, I love you as no one ever loved before."
She: "Humph. I can't tell any difference."

S. J. C. Library Grows; New Books Total 175; Clark

Salinas Junior College is looking forward to a bigger library in the very near future. More and more books are coming in every week. Mr. Clark said that since school opened, he has received about 175 new books, every one of which is in the library.

Among the many important books are: The Modern Newspaper, Government and Politics Abroad, Electricity and Magnetism, When China Unites, Empire in the East, Modern Theories of Organic Chemistry, Application of Chemistry to Agriculture, Track and Field, Family Finance, Principles of Business, Social Philosophy in Conflict, Violin Playing As I Teach It, and many others.

IN OUR MAIL

Here are both sides of the question. Take your pick and let's hear some more about it. However, we do voice the opinion that the yell leaders deserve all the support they can get.

Dear Editor:

What's the matter with our yell leaders? And what's the matter with the high school yells? After all the high school did turn out and give our team some good support. They even changed their yells and songs over to ours for the night. I don't see why we should be accused of "high school stuff" under those circumstances. Besides, it was a peppy yell. I think we owe the high school an apology for that slam.

WE WANT TO YELL.

Dear Editor:

Don't take this as a slam. I'm merely commenting on the game and suggesting one or two things which I think would help. For one thing, I think the yell leaders deserved a lot more support than they got. After all, they were doing their best to cheer our boys on. However, I do think that Tommy Lenhart would be just as well off if he would save some of his chit-chat for the fireside and lead the yells when the occasion is ripe, instead of talking for five minutes when we want to yell. Maybe that would be one way to get the desired cooperation.

Dear Editor:

I want to say that I thought our band did a grand job the other night, and I hope they can keep it up in the future. It certainly lent a collegiate atmosphere to the game, and as I'm a transfer, I think I know what I'm talking about. McCann really has something there.

TRANSFER.

Ed. Note: Well, at least you all went to the game!

Dear Editor:

Are we going to hear anything more about the suggestion which was made by M. X. in the paper awhile ago? I'm referring to the matter of the men picking a queen.

CURIOUS.

"When I was logging up in Oregon," related the old timer, "I saw a wildcat come right up to the skidder one day. I threw a bucket of water in its face and it slunk away."

"Boys," said the man sitting in the corner, "I can vouch for that story. A few minutes after that happened, I was coming down the side of the hill. I met this wildcat and, as is my habit, I stopped to stroke its whiskers. Boys, those whiskers were wet."

Fashions

By EL

One of the cleverest ideas to come out of the west lately has been the feminizing of sports clothes — not by way of wearing frills and ruffles with tweed skirts, but by the addition of jewelry to even the most masculine of outfits. Perhaps you have noticed around this up-to-date institution some of the attire adhering to this principle — Marie Heer wearing a rose-colored flannel skirt with a bright blue sweater set off by a single strand of pearls.

The gray skirt, black sweater and triple strand of pearls worn by Doris Barnard are also truly sophisticated and smart.

Pearls are the most popular of the new habiliments, but any type of neck ornament is acceptable. A return to the gay 90's is predicted by large gold locket and smaller adaptations of the same. Gold crosses are being worn more than ever by those who are in the know.

More slick accessories are the Lambeth walk scarfs now being shown at one of the local stores. Starting in one corner and continuing around the edges are instructions and pictures of how to do that latest craze, the Lambeth walk. The scarfs come in most captivating colors that blend with all the new shades.

Our own Miss Hutchinson is also contributing to the world of fashion by way of a unique pin. Hanging suspended from a bar of copper are coins of all different nations. They are of varying sizes and present a birds-eye view of the wealth of nations.

Have you seen Anna and Olaf yet? No, it isn't another of the boy-girl affairs we hear so much about, but another of these ingenious lapel ornament, a tiny Scandinavian boy and girl, worn by Evelyn Heinsen.

Ruth Greve is another exponent of distinctive lapel embellishments as observed by the fact that she is proudly exhibiting a pair of minute Dutch shoes worn on a gray suit.

If you really want people to know at least your initials, you should copy Aldine Viborg's pin. In each of three smooth gold circles is one of Aldine's initials dangling on gold chains from a small gold bar.

Another outfit discovered to be causing palpitations of the local girls' hearts is a rust skirt, matching plaid blouse and gold buttons, which latter are sheathed daggers appended to the blouse by gold chains. The outfit is fashioned of raw silk and the brief short-sleeved blouse ties at the waist over the skirt.

Ramblings

By DIZ

OBSERVATIONS OF A CUB REPORTER:

Deadline and still no column. Scene in publications office: Two people working and four taking up time and space. When you consider that this school does things, the students are very quiet. Maybe they are recovering from our recent jig-fest. At any rate, the hall on Monday morning was as quiet as a hospital zone.

It has been suggested that instead of wearing ribbons, the girls should be made to go without make-up for the three weeks. If the boys have to look like grizzly bears, why can't the girls look like faded amazons without their war-paint?

If Olen Van Sandt and Wee Willy from New Jersey didn't leave their notes in the typewriter in the Battery room, they wouldn't need to worry about whether their little billet-doux will be printed or not. As it is, their faces should be as red as the ink they used.

What should we do about the hairless Chihuahuas around the school? One bright solution offered by a just as bright person was that they should be made to wear ribbons. How about it, boys?

MEMOS OF A MIDNIGHTER:

This dance of ours was quite the thing. Just ask Eleanor Rogers if she had a good time. She didn't mind at all the attentions that the Hollister flash was paying her.

Some of the girls missed their bus. Frixample: Arlene Keller. She went to the dance with Geo. Laughton, and so, of course, he had to escort her all the way home to Gilroy. Yes, George, that last dance was mighty long.

Jimmy Cathey was worried about taking Marian Shearer home until he found out she was staying in Salinas.

HALL-HANGERS AT 1:15 TUESDAY:

The usual bull session was going on in the main hall. The members of that all-inspiring body were Bill Lane, Bill Morasci, Smoky Joe Garcia, and Marlin Dimick.

Ben Graves and Peggy Young were also taking up space in the hall. They were quite close to the bull session, but not close enough.

The window in that section of the hall was well taken care of by Louise Di Lorenzo and Rose Mandelli.

THOUGHTS WHILE STROLLING:

Does advertising pay? The only way to find out is to see Jack Nelson. Just recently he advertised for more girls on his bus when he found boys on his bus knitting, of all things. We want to know what he needs more for? He already has Iris Miller.

The change that has come over one of our gay Lotharios, Kitty Andreason has decided to advertise, too. He's sorta tired of escorting a different girl to every affair, therefore he wants a nice steady girl to take places. Refer-

ALTA FIESE, FORMER J. C. STUDENT, WEDS

The First Methodist Church of Salinas was the setting for an impressive wedding ceremony at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon when Miss Alta Fiese and Mr. Everett Fleming were married. The Rev. C. H. Stephens officiated in the presence of immediate relatives of the couple.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Henry Sorensen, was her only attendant.

Immediately after the ceremony the couple left on a brief honeymoon trip and on their return will reside in Salinas.

Mrs. Fleming is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Fiese of Salinas. She was graduated from the Salinas Union High School and attended the Salinas Junior College.

Mr. Fleming is the son of Mrs. Zoia Fleming of Salinas. A former resident of Osceola, Iowa, he graduated from the high school in that city and for some time has been making his home in Salinas where he is employed.

Dancing Among Old Forms of Enjoyment

Dancing is one of the oldest forms of expression and enjoyment. From the weird tom-tom rituals of primitive peoples to lilting mazurkas, the dance has always held its place.

Today dancing has made great strides forward, or we might say backward. Some of the latest crazes bring to mind the deepest jungles of Africa in centuries past, although we consider them very, very modern.

In any event, the rhythmic movement of the body not only gives us grace and poise, but is a grand means of having a good time.

Now it seems people do not dance because they sincerely like it. They dance to "show off", and if nobody were watching them they wouldn't dance at all. That is the secret of the dance. The dance floor, it seems, is a stage. Nevertheless, some are inclined to disagree when it comes to this idea of dancing in order to "show off".

Of course there are people who dance for praise and flattery. Probably we all like to be admired. But that doesn't imply that the majority of us dance because we want to impress others. If this were so, how could we explain moments when, while listening to an especially fine selection, we'd like to get up and dance, even though there's no one around to applaud. In fact the very absence of critical eyes usually adds to our enjoyment.

ences furnished. Purpose, companionship.

The alumni must wish they were back by the way they turned out at the dance. Luther White and Bill Wing came back to hold down the fort and to see what we could do without them. Tom Judge, who is now a ranger in La Honda, came back to give all the girls a twirl in his Fred Astaire manner. We hope that they will return every year to see how well we are getting on.

Exuberant Students Make 'Victory Dance' Successful Occasion

A dimly lit, colorfully decorated gymnasium... an orchestra that could start Leopold Stokowski trucking on down... a roomful of students still exuberant over the sweeping victory of their team. Add them all together and what do you get? A dance so successful that it made all alumni wish they were still undergraduates.

Music, played in the Jack Nelson manner, kept the happy celebrating throng at a high pitch throughout the evening. The music was so swingy that at the end of the dance the stags and the stagettes forced the orchestra to play until 1 o'clock, setting a new record for the Salinas Junior College. In fact, the music was so good that the orchestra leader entered into the spirit of things by dancing the last dance, leaving the rest of the orchestra to shift for itself.

The dance was such a roaring success that it set fire to boxes behind the gym. Our hero, Jack Kympton, rushed to the fray. Dragging the fire hose behind him, he was stopped only because the hose was too short. Soon the bonfire was running hot competition with the jig-fest.

So thanks for the memory of the best dance of the year, music we wanted to hear, it will never be forgotten, so all stand up and cheer. And thank you so much.

NONA HARDY IS ELECTED UGC PRESIDENT

Nona Harney was elected president of Upsilon Gamma Chi Wednesday with the narrowest possible margin, defeating her opponent, Marie Heer, by only one vote.

The election returns were as follows: President, Nona Harney 38 votes, Marie Heer 37; vice-president, Evelyn Heinsen 44 votes, Ida Raye Graham 31; secretary-treasurer, Elaine Levy 38 votes, Jean Meese 26, Betty Schermerhorn 11.

Elections had been postponed time and time again. Last year's officers had been forced to fill their respective positions and do the duties that rightfully belonged to this year's officials. Adding to difficulties was the small number of voters casting ballots when the election was finally held. There were only 75 votes cast while there are approximately 300 girls enrolled in the college.

Great concern is felt over the lack of enthusiasm displayed by the students during the elections held this year.

Around the World

Hope for the future in Europe is not anywhere near as high, here, as in the buoyant sales talks being advanced by the hard-pressed Chamberlain government in London.

Most officials seem privately to be taking the realistic view that might still makes right. More attention is being paid to defense than disarmament plans. Best authoritative guess is the next crisis in Europe is no more than six months to a year distant.

A Soviet Russia children's newspaper, warned its readers recently that a bloody and cruel war is near, nearer than Chamberlain, British prime minister, thinks.

The newspaper said that Germany would not be satisfied with Czechoslovakia and probably would want a taste of "fresh meat" next.

Pravda, the communist party newspaper, said the workers of the world must fight for transformation of imperialist war into civil war of the exploited masses against their exploiters.

Jellyfish are attacking South Africa. Thousands of them, three feet in diameter, have invaded the harbor at Dunbar, interfering with steamship traffic and piling high on the bathing beaches.

Parachute jumpers, who have been trained by the hundreds in Soviet Russia, are now used as fire fighters in the northern provinces and for medical service at remote far eastern frontier posts. In the aviation unit of the Red Cross, 20 doctors and 100 parachutes are included in areas where their services may be needed.

The practice of chewing gum is a custom of ancient origin. The Aztecs, inhabitants of Mexico, were chewing gum devotees long before the conquering Spaniards arrived in that country in 1519. These people, however, acquired the habit from the Mayas who once held sway in what are now the states of Yucatan and Campeche. Today these regio produce great amounts of chicle, which is the basis of the chewing gum that is so popular in the United States and in Mexico as well.

Salinas Meets Stockton In Second Night Game

Salinas Jaysee Gains 26-7 Victory Over Marin

The setting at the Salinas Lettuce Bowl last Friday night could not have been more perfect. It was the scene of the first night football game in local history, attended by a record-breaking "home-coming day" crowd of a little more than 3000.

With this in mind, the Salinas J. C. football team delighted the folks by crushing a haughty Marin J. C. outfit 26-7 in a northern California junior college conference meeting.

Led by Americo "Pump" Vella, who was given his first real chance to shine and who shone his brightest with a great display of running and passing which set up every scoring opportunity, together with Joe Garcia's sterling achievements and quarterback Frank Osmer's fine generalship, the Panthers struck fast and furiously. They piled up a 19-0 lead at the half-way mark, added another score early at the start of the third period, and then relaxed to allow Marin to score just once.

The Panthers tore the Marin line to ribbons from the start. After reeling off 45 yards and fumbling on the visitors' 20-yard stripe, the home team took command of the ball on their own 25-yard line and on a sustained drive, plowed 75 yards to a score with Vella going over from the four-yard line.

Moraschi started the drive by reeling off 33 yards in three plays but was forced to withdraw because of illness. "Pump" Vella appeared on the scene and played one of the finest games ever seen here. He smashed through for 27 yards in three plays to carry the ball to the four and took it over via off tackle.

Vella again was instrumental in engineering the second Salinas touchdown. Taking the pigskin on his own 33, he pushed through for 24 yards in two attempts, hurled a 16-yard pass to Hudson to the Marin 29, and on a reverse play, raced 18 yards to the seven-yard line. Shinn bucked three, "Pump" hit for two more, and Shinn, over right guard, made three more for the touchdown. Vella's place-kick hit the goal post and bounded back.

The home boys wasted little time in getting a third tally. After Marin failed to make use of the leather and punted to the Salinas 41, a barrage of laterals placed the ball on the visitors' 29. After picking up eight off tackle, Vella passed to Grabast for 17 to the eight-yard stripe. On a line play, Salinas fumbled, but Ken Cox was in the vicinity and pounced on the ball as it rolled over the goal for the score. Vella's attempted place kick was partially blocked but Marchi fell on the leather over the goal to add the extra point. Salinas led 19-0.

Before the half had ended, the Marin team, with Hoberg running and passing, threatened to score. After three attempts from

FEATURES SHOW MARIN DEFEAT BY SALINAS JC

By POPE

From the opening kickoff until the final gun, the Salinas Junior College ran rough-shod over the highly touted Marin Junior College football team.

Down they came from Marin, confident of a win over a football squad who had lost to a weaker Menlo team two weeks before. Marin defeated Menlo 13-0, and scores made Salinas the under dog. From the defeat to Menlo until last Friday night the Panthers went through their practices with fight and determination. They were fired up to beat Marin, and the 27-6 score proved it.

Feature runs by Frank Osmer and "Pump" Vella proved to be highlights of the evening. Osmer called signals and took the ball for long gains. "Pump" Vella just couldn't be stopped at times and tore off long gains through a stubborn Marin line. The locals showed up well on the defensive plays and fast charging. Jack Dolan threw the Marin backs for great losses. Joe Garcia, end for the maroon and gold, played a game that drew words of praise from Coaches Ed Adams and "Bud" Winter.

Bob Hudson, end, let very few Marin tail-men cross his wing sector. Bob rushed the passer and stopped the Marin backs for no gain. The Panthers played heads-up football and the fans were held breathless with the laterals passed by both squads.

Tonight — Stockton Junior College.

the five-yard stripe in which a powerful Panther line had the strength of the Rock of Gibraltar, Hoberg threw a final pass to the goal line, but it failed. Vella reached for the pass and had it in his hands but a teammate, who brushed past him, deflected the ball as a clear field stared him in the face.

Salinas tallied its final score early in the third period when, after the visiting team had muffed the pellet on their own 20, Vella pitched a strike pass to Garcia on the 10, Garcia scampered across the final marker with a pair of enemy men in desperate pursuit. Paul added the extra point by plunging over the line.

Leading 26-0, the locals relaxed a bit and permitted Marin to score a touchdown all its own. With Hoberg, ace of the opposition, running and passing on every play, Marin drove from their 30 to the scoring zone with Schreiner finally turning the trick. Hoberg kicked the free boot, but only after a Salinas offside allowed him to kick over again after he had failed the first time.

PANTHER PANTS

By OZZIE

The Panthers' first score against Marin last Friday night was dedicated to Ben Graves, regular right tackle, home in bed with an infected knee. The second was for Carter, who was not expected to see action, and the other two were just for fun.

During the third and fourth quarters, there were three guards and one tackle playing for Salinas at one time. Bill Lane, regularly a right guard, was playing right tackle while Dolan and Stokes were holding down the regular guard berths.

The band did more than play well last Friday. Just as the second half was to start, and both teams were lined up on the field, the band started playing. Twenty-two football players had to run around the field to keep warm until the band finished playing.

One more plea was forthcoming from the players. This concerns the rooters who otherwise did a swell job. When Salinas had the ball, cheers and yells from the local rooting section drowned out the signals, and were generally detrimental to the timing necessary for the correct execution of reverse plays.

Salinas Jaysee's football team is 24 points better than the U. C. L. A. frosh, nine points better than the U. S. C. frosh, and 15 points better than the U. C. frosh, by comparative scores, anyway. Here the proof:

Stanford frosh 13, Salinas 6.
Stanford frosh 31, U. C. L. A. frosh 0.
Stanford frosh 22, U. S. C. frosh 6.

U. S. C. frosh 13, U. C. frosh 7.
By virtue of those scores, Stanford frosh are seven points better than Salinas, 31 better than U. C. L. A., 16 better than U. S. C., and 22 better than U. C. So by simple subtraction you can see how good the Panthers really are.

Campus Beautified

The Salinas Junior College campus is being decorated with new shrubs and trees.

The task of redecoration began last Tuesday. Ted Spaulding, head of the tree and shrub planting, says, "These shrubs that we are planting will add greatly to the appearance of the campus. In time there will be trees, shrubs, and flowers surrounding all four sides of the school."

Shrubs are being supplied by a Watsonville nursery.

Panthers Have Perfect Record On Home Turf

Benchwarmer's Success

By BARNES

My freshman days were ended. As fired the final gun, Because I'd moved not from the bench, They called me "Sitting Son."

My soph days were no better, Not once had I a chance, The only proof I'd made the squad, Was bench paint on my pants.

My third year showed improvement. Just at the season's close, I took a towel out to our half, Who'd busted up his nose.

My senior year! The final game! The field was smeared with gore. Aside from me, held in reserve, There were not any more.

"Well, get up, Son," the sad coach said, And gave my arm a wrench. A short-lived thrill, for he went on, "I'm sending in the bench."

Yes, sometimes fate is cruel, Ere she fills your cup with wine, You'd not have thought it nor I, but, This ROSE BOWL TEAM is mine.

The Jaysee Panther and Stockton Junior College elevens (first two years of College of the Pacific) clash tonight when the brilliant lights of the Salinas "Lettuce Bowl" focus down upon the gridiron at 8 o'clock.

The Panthers have a perfect record on their home field so far this season, trouncing Taft Jaysee 27-0, and downing the strong Marin eleven 26-7 last Friday night. As they came out of the Marin tilt without suffering any serious injuries and with Eddie Daigle, Ben Crawford, and Merle Estes playing, they should really be strong against the Stockton squad tonight.

Stockton is said to have a fairly strong team which includes many all-valley star players.

In meeting the junior college of the College of the Pacific, the Panthers go up against a school with a great history and a great many traditions. The institution has the distinction of being the first co-educational college in California, dating back to July 10, 1851.

Its original name was the "California Wesleyan College". It was renamed the "University of the Pacific" in 1852.

Since its establishment in 1851, the college has been moved three times. It was dedicated in Santa Clara. In 1871 it was moved a short distance, and finally it settled in Stockton in 1924, where it now stands.

During 1936, C. O. P. organized a junior college, increasing its enrollment to 1400 — 900 in the jaysee and 500 are in the regular college.

GIRLS' SPORTS

Last Saturday 15 girls journeyed forth to San Jose for a Play Day. Schools represented were San Francisco Jaysee, San Francisco State, San Mateo Jaysee, Salinas Jaysee, and the hostess, San Jose State.

The girls who chose archery as their sport found it very interesting. One target was covered with a picture of a boy with an apple pinned to the top of his head, which the girls were supposed to hit; another target was covered with balloons to be popped, and the third target was covered with the picture of a deer with a large heart painted red where deer hearts are usually found. Several balloons were popped and the deer was shot in the heart many times, but no one could shoot the apple on the boy's head.

After the games were played, the girls adjourned to the swimming pool where they were clad in the school swim suits, which were well-fitted and of all colors. This was a pleasant surprise, as most of the girls expected to find long, flowing, black suits.

The play day itself was very successful, but the Salinas girls have decided, with the help of Miss Hutchinson, that if any other such meeting is held in the future, no other group is to be allowed to accompany the girls in their bus. Mr. Robinson's geology class also went to San Jose on a field trip in our bus. The girls were ready to leave at 2:30, but the bus and the geology students were nowhere in sight. After waiting until 4 o'clock, the girls began frantically pacing the sidewalk in front of the college. By 4:15, a store across the street was kept busy by girls calling their mothers to tell them they would be late. By 4:30, every service station operator, store clerk, and housewife within two blocks of the school was worried for our sake. Miss Hutchinson was all prepared to wait until 6 o'clock and then call Mr. Werner to see what we should do about getting home. So you see, we were worried. Several girls were in favor of calling a police car to hunt the late bus. Finally, at 4:45, a yellow blotch was seen several blocks up the street. A mad rush ensued, and all was well and quiet again by 5 o'clock. At 7:15 the bus rolled into Salinas with a cry for food on every-one's lips.
